Die Apostelgeschichte Im Kontext Antiker Und Fruhchristlicher Historiographie/ the Acts of the Apostles in the Context of Ancient and Early Christian Historiography Nov 01 2022

This collection offers an extensive framework of comparative and individual studies assessing the place of Luke-Acts in the historiography of ancient Judaism and the Greco-Roman world, whilst also examining further developments in early Christian historiography up to Eusebius and Theodoret. Additional contributions concentrate on systematic questions concerning the literary genre and conception of Luke-Acts.

A Commentary on the Acts of the Apostles Aug 30 2022 While this book was printed in the 19th century, its contents consist of the complete text of a 17th-century work. A Literal Explanation of the Acts of the Holy Apostles was originally written in Latin by C.M. Du Veil, a French Jew who converted to Catholicism and then became associated with the Huguenots. After fleeing France, he settled in Holland and then Britain, where he wrote several influential commentaries on various books of the Bible. Because of Du Veil's background, the reader of this commentary on Acts can view the book through the eyes of a convert from Judaism to Christianity--a point of view similar to that of the early Christians themselves.

The Acts of Thomas Nov 20 2021 Annotation Klijn (emeritus, U. of Groningen) presents a commentary on the acts of Thomas. He relies on the Syriac text, thought by him to be the original language of the writing, but makes reference to the Greek translation. He seeks to demonstrate that the work belongs to the Eastern Christian tradition rather than that of the Gnostics. Klijn has revised the introduction in response to more recent work on Syriac Christianity, but largely left the commentary the same as in the original 1962 edition. The Acts of Early Church Councils Acts Mar 13 2021
The Acts of Early Church Councils Acts examines the acts of ancient church councils as the objects of textual practices, in their editorial shaping, and in their material conditions. It traces the processes of their production, starting from the recording of spoken interventions during a meeting, to the preparation of minutes of individual sessions, to their collection into larger units, their storage and the earliest attempts at their dissemination. Thomas Graumann demonstrates that the preparation of 'paperwork' is central for the bishops' self-presentation and the projection of prevailing conciliar ideologies. The councils' aspirations to legitimacy and authority before real and imagined audiences of the wider church and the empire, and for posterity, fundamentally reside in the relevant textual and bureaucratic processes. Council leaders and administrators also scrutinized and inspected documents and records of previous occasions. From the evidence of such examinations the volume further reconstructs the textual and physical characteristics of ancient conciliar documents and explores the criteria of their assessment. Reading strategies prompted by the features observed from material textual objects handled in council, and the opportunities and limits afforded by the techniques of 'writing-up' conciliar business are analysed. Papyrological evidence and contemporary legal regulations are used to contextualise these efforts. The book thus offers a unique assessment of the production processes, character and the material conditions of council acts that must be the foundation for any historical and theological research into the councils of the ancient church.

The Acts of the Apostles Jan 29 2020 These volumes are part of a series of bibliographies on the books of the Hebrew and Christian Bibles as well as the deuterocanonicals. Each compiler is working within the general framework that citations are to works publishing within the twentieth century that make contributions to the understanding of the text and backgrounds of the various books. The arrangement for the entries, in most volumes, consists of three divisions: scriptural citations; subject citations; commentaries. Multiple citations by scriptural citation are included where relevant.

Strange Acts Dec 30 2019 This book examines many of the strange events and actions in Acts in the context of the Hellenistic world and from that perspective. These events and actions include the ascension of Jesus, direction by the Spirit, visions, angelophanies, prison escapes and resuscitations of the dead. Many of these events are either avoided in scholarship or are investigated with an agenda other than to understand them for themselves. The book constructs an ancient audience to be one that has a close familiarity with the Septuagint and with other Greek and Latin writings. The culturally-strange events are then interpreted through the lens of these texts. The Practice of Insolvency Under the Protection Acts ... with the Statutes, Etc Sep 18 2021

The Acts of Paul Dec 22 2021

Richard I. Pervo provides the most complete translation of the pseudepigraphic Acts of Paul in English, together with a detailed commentary. The research perspective of this work is primarily literary, with detailed attention to the history of composition and revision. The author encourages a fresh look at this section of the 'Apocraphal Acts' through the lens of the Pauline legacy and in the context of ancient popular narrative.
